

5 Ways to Get the Most Out of TeethXpress® Magazine

BioHorizons created TeethXpress magazine to help you educate prospective and existing patients about dental implants and regenerative treatment. An educated patient is more likely to follow through on treatment recommendations, increasing case acceptance. Newly added content reassures patients that the dental office has always been safe and is now even safer. To further put patients at ease, magazines come individually wrapped.

1 Provide to Patients Upon Arrival

When TeethXpress magazine is given to patients in advance of their appointment, it helps answer many of their questions about dental implant treatment and explains the benefits of the services you provide.

2 Use During Patient Consultations

TeethXpress magazine makes a great visual aid! By referring to the beautifully designed graphics and before/after testimonials during consultations you can help patients understand your recommendations and motivate them to move forward.

3 Include in Take-Home Folders

TeethXpress magazine makes a terrific handout for any prospective implant patient. You can bookmark articles that are most relevant to individual patients, and encourage them to share the information with family members.

4 Reference During Patient Seminars

The articles, photos and illustrations in TeethXpress magazine effectively drive home your messaging about the many benefits of dental implant treatment – whether you're talking to one patient or a whole group.

5 Give to Your Referring Doctors

Handing out copies of this uniquely helpful marketing tool to your referring doctors will benefit both your practice and theirs, as patients become better acquainted with the benefits of dental implant and regenerative treatment.

Now individually wrapped for each patient!
